

Administrative information for special students

University of Bern MSc Climate Sciences – ETH Department Earth and Planetary Sciences

Registration, first time or after a break

Your registration is valid for one semester.

The registration confirmation and the login date (User Account) will be sent to you by e-mail by the Registrar's Office.

Assignment of the course units

You must register for the course units (lectures, exercises, seminars, etc.) in the web application myStudies (login: myStudies). Only then are you officially entitled to attend public ETH course units related to your studies during the semester in question.

Enrollment: until the end of the fourth week of the semester.

If you decide not to attend a course unit after all, you must delete this booking in myStudies by the end of the fourth week of the semester at the latest.

If you have not registered for any courses or examinations by the end of the fourth week of the semester, your registration including your ETH User Account will be deleted automatically.

The course units are published online in the course catalogue.

If a course is marked with a red square with an exclamation mark  this indicates that there is a restriction for this course. If you click on the icon, the restrictions are displayed in the details of the course unit under "General". A black square (■) under "General" means that special students and auditors require special permission to take this course unit. If you still want to attend such a course unit, you have to ask the lecturer by e-mail for the written permission to attend. If you are granted permission, forward it to the registrar@ethz.ch. Direct confirmation from the lecturer by e-mail to the registrar@ethz.ch also counts as consent. The Registrar's Office will then make the necessary assignment for you.

Further information can be found under: Course Unit Details

Please do not register for more course units than needed.

Registration for a consecutive semester

You have the possibility to renew the registration semester by semester. To do this, you must fill out the registration form again and submit it to the Institute of Atmospheric and Climate Science till the end of the first semester week latest.

Performance assessments / exam registration

The way in which a course unit is examined is published in the course catalogue and in the student application myStudies. There are three different forms of performance at ETH Zurich: types of examination.

The Examination Office will inform you in the third week of the semester by sending a message to your ETH e-mail address from and until when performance assessments must be registered. You can only register for performance assessments if you have taken the corresponding course unit in myStudies.

Without semester registration, it is not possible to register for examinations either regularly or late.

Detailed information on the subject of performance assessments can be found under: Performance assessments.

Regarding the modalities for registration and deregistration as well as for taking examinations, the regulations of ETH Zurich apply.

Examination results announcement

Your examination results will be disposed and administered by the Study Administration Office of the ETH Department Earth and Planetary Sciences (D-EAPS). This office is therefore also responsible for notifying you of the results you have obtained. Contact address: lehre@eaps.ethz.ch

You can find the available results and ECTS credits at any time in myStudies under transcript of records. You will be automatically informed about new results via your ETH e-mail address. It is your own responsibility to send the results to the corresponding Dean's Office of the University of Bern.

Upon your specific request, the D-EAPS Study Administration Office will provide you with a certified transcript of records.

Performance recognition and performance crediting

Only your home university decides on recognition and crediting of the achievements you have completed at ETH Zurich.
